“ I graduated from St. Margaret's in 1968. Mrs. Robinson was my sixth grade teacher. My most compelling memory of her from that year was about a "slam book" that was being passed around that had every student's name on one page. We had a huge class. She rarely, if ever, lost her temper, but that day we KNEW she was angry with us. I'm pretty sure that was the end of that! Her sense of justice to the "nice" kids was keenly felt by me.

Many years later I saw her at an Archdiocesan meeting for Catholic school teachers; I had recently graduated from Mount Saint Mary's and was a new teacher in middle school. Thinking she'd never remember me, I greeted warmly and asked if she did. Her reply was almost immediate, "Yes, I do, and how's your brother Eugene?"

I was so proud of her accomplishment of receiving recognition as a wonderful Catholic school teacher and principal many years ago.

I will keep her in prayer!

“ I just searched for Mrs. Robinson, in hope of finding her picture. Instead, I found that she died just 4 weeks ago at the age of 91. May God welcome her with open arms. She truly was one of His Angels, sent down to make each of us better. She taught me and my brothers between 1959-1970.

“ God sent an Angel to St. Margaret's to guide, love and provide us with the knowledge to be whatever we wanted. I will forever be grateful to this extraordinary Woman for all she gave to me and my child. Yes, she taught me and then lead my son by being the Principal of St Margaret's School

“ Mrs. Robinson was one of the best teachers at St. Margaret's School. She was professional, funny, and fair. She was also a trendsetter in school. We came into school one morning and she was wearing a pantsuit. This was the 60's. Very daring at the time. The whispering. Some moms were ok with it and some not. You go Mrs. Robinson. Thank you.
