“ I have an abundance of personal experiences to share about my sister. She has always been my protector since childhood, my friend with whom I partied, and even someone I had a few fights with. However, the strongest bond we shared was love. It's difficult to express the pain of losing her, but I find solace in knowing that she lives on within me and our love remains strong. My love for her will last forever. - love you My queen

“ Dayna my heart becomes heavy with grief knowing that your physical body is no longer with us. I am grateful for the memories of antics, good times and laughter we shared from a very young age. You are now in the loving presence of the ancestors. No more pain or worries. Rest in peace my forever friend though not blood related will always be considered family. Until we meet again

“ WWIn Memory of Dayna

*In the garden of my childhood, where laughter bloomed,
You were the sun, my guiding light, dispelling all the gloom.
Dayna, my sister, my protector so true,
In every whispered secret, I found safety in you.
With you by my side, the world felt so bright.*

*Through the playgrounds we wandered, hand in hand,
But time, that thief, came creeping one day,
And took you from me, in silence, away.
I lost my protector, my confidant dear,
The laughter we shared now echoes in fear.*

*Yet in the depths of my heart, you remain,
A melody of memories, a sweet, gentle pain.
For as long as I breathe, as long as I live,
Your spirit surrounds me, your love, it will give.*

*Though shadows may linger, and tears may fall,
I feel you beside me, you're never too far at all.
Our heartbeats entwined, a rhythm so pure,
In the fabric of my being, your essence endures.*

*Dayna, my sister, my friend, my delight,
In dreams, I still see you, a star in the night.
You taught me to fight, to love, and to care,
In every heartbeat, I know you are there.*

*So here's to the bond that death cannot sever,
In my soul, you live on, now and forever.
With every step forward, I carry your grace,
Dayna, my sister, my heart's sacred space.*
