“ *ERRORS in CROSSLEY TRIBUTE. If possible please replace the last two lines with this correction: "I encourage you to hold on to your memories of Diane. Cherish and nurture each one of them.
Trust God to give you peace."*

“ Diane Jones

To Diane's daughters Rhonda, Tiffany, and Patrice, and to other family members and friends, I choose to speak of Diane in the present tense because for me, she will always be...

When I think of Diane, only positive thoughts come to mind. She is smart, highly educated, classy, beautiful -- inside and out, caring, giving, loving and loveable, laughs easily and quickly, shows herself friendly, and meets no stranger. Diane is a self-starter who is dedicated to excellence and works any job through to completion. She is a world-traveller who will give you travel advice, if you ask for it.

Diane is a family person who loves her family dearly. She cherishes her roles as daughter, sister, mother, grandmother, great grandmother, and friend. She loves and cares about children and encourages the pursuit of higher education.

In short, Diane is a one-of-a-kind kind of person. I count myself blessed that the Lord brought me from Memphis, TN, to Washington, DC, to meet and become a colleague and friend of Diane Jones. I consider myself in good company with her family and friends.

I encourage you to hold on to your memories of Diane cherish and nurture each one of them. Trust God the give you peace.

*With Much Love and Prayer,
Kathy Crossley
Memphis, TN*
