“ My deepest condolences to the McCoy family and I pray that God embrace them with His comfort and peace. I pray that they stand strong on their faith and savor the wonderful memories.

Donald and I worked together for many years and he was like a brother to me. He was dedicated to his family and to his job. As much as he would curse and holler at his employees, he was just a marsh mellow/powder puff. Hard on the outside and soft on the inside. He looked out for them as though they were his children (very protective).

Even when I retired he would have people (some I didn't know) calling me to do their resumes and/or 171's to be hired or promoted. I asked him if he thought I was his secretary (personnel person) calling on me to do all that work and he would say Yes. I remember him calling asking me to come down to where he worked to be their cashier when they sold dinners because he thought the other person was dipping, so I would always do what I could when I was available. I admired him as a supervisor doing everything he could to uplift and promote his staff.

I know his family know and loved him for who he was, always raising cane, but always helping to better others lives.

God's peace, love, comfort, and grace to his family.
