“ At 81 years old, I've never seen anyone's grandfather (dad) with this much swagg while laying in a hospital bed. From head to toes, blue & black Jordans, with matching HH jacket and sun glasses that went everywhere with u. Now that's one cool dude right thr, lol 😎. 3/19/15 @2:09pm was the last breath u took while I was rubbing your back and holding u. Heart rate went from in the 20s to 140s and doctors were shocked. It was rare for a persons heart rate to jump back up so fast while in your condition, but I knew that the warm back rub would make your day. I also knew that u were saying "thank you" to me, because that's all I could remember, u telling me to "just rub my back."
I will miss u dad, especially all the yelling and fussing u did. I think, your skooling has officially paid off because I've matured so much!
Bitter Sweet and thankful.
Rest on Big Earl 🙏😇💕
Love always, your Earleshia...
