“ As a kid, I would get so excited to hear that Honey was coming over! I used to run to the window and wait for her to pull up in front of the house! Oh! I wanted to see what she was wearing! She always had on those "High Heels" and I mean high (with her LITTLE FEET size 5), and that's in comparison to the heels today y'all! Her clothes were Sharp & Stylish, her Hair not a strand out of place! All I wanted was to dress and look Perfect like her! Honey had it going on since I could remember, and still had it going on! One day, a couple of years ago I jokingly asked Honey, "do you still wear your high heels?" she responded in her High pitched voice "Of course I do Silly! I can no longer walk in them, but I can ride in style in my wheelchair because I still need to look Good!!!" Honey took Her ELEGANCE to Heaven with Her!! Rest in Peace Honey! I Love you!

“ God has called another one of his Angels to come back home, Honey just put on a pair of new wings and went home. Honey was a person whether your decisions were right or wrong she'd tell you I told you so. Remembering Honey she was just like a real mother or a loving godmother that share her love and it was much love even though she didn't have any children of her own .she loved the ones that she claimed as her own . She was like a loving godmother to many family members children if they were her cousins she was Aunt honey too many. In the year of 1960 Honey ask my mother could I go to a dance and my mother said yes and honey began to be a loving chaperone for myself and another person . Honey loved shopping for myself and others .my mom trusted me with honey and she let me go several events with Honey. I can remember Honey going Wheaton plaza to purchase three green Winter coats with white fur on the hood the coats. for herself, for me and another person .honey would give the best that she could give to you. Honey loved family and her friends she would show her love by the things that she'd do for a person . I can remember in 1962 when I had my first child Honey she even beat my mother and my mom's best friends Thelma Kate Davis to the hospital to witness the birth of my son. I will always be grateful to Honey for the things that she have said and she have done for me sleep on Honey take your rest we love you but God loved you best.
