“ We just learned of Mr. Scales passing. He was not only a very knowledgeable insurance agent but he was also a kind and caring person. He will be missed. So we extend our condolences to the family. Very soon, the Bible's promise at Daniel 12:2 will be fulfilled. It reads, "many of those asleep in the dust of the ground will wake up".

“ I became a friend of Mr. Scales in 1973 at the Washington Hospital Center. I was just starting as a Personnel Clerk and he worked in Benefits. Mr. Scales has been directly responsible for my successes and life long dreams. He advised me in marriage, insurance, investments and home purchases as well as now fulfilling my final goal owning a mini horse ranch. He always said, "sacrifice now while you're young enough to drive extra miles to get your dream". I am now getting ready for my first horse and breeding alpacas. Unfortunately, Mr. Scales will not be able to see my first trot around. I am so blessed to have known him. Many employees at the hospital would come to him with health issues and real concerns as he worked with insurance. They would entered his office worried and when they came out of his office they would always have a smile because he always gave you hope and left you feeling everything would work out for the good and would do anything he could to assist. Out of 3 insurance agents employees would line up to meet with him only day after day. It would take me all the time I have left to express how special he was in my development. I will truly miss Mr. Scales. I know he's in the presence of the Lord. Mr. Scales was such a great knowledgeable man with the kindest and sympathizing heart. No wonder his heart was weak because he gave from his own heart to so many people. My deepest condolences to Patricia and the family. Marilyn Ann Kelly Turner Marable.

“ A short time ago; some friends and I visited Maryland and the Washington area while reciting poetry in a poetry contest. My friends, Weldon and Patricia Scales invited us over. He came all the way over to Washington to pick us up, took us to their home, had a wonderful down home meal where we spent the night in southern luxury, then took us back to Wash. the following day.....Great people... Surely he will be missed.. Stay strong Patricia.
