“ During the 60s my grandfather adopted a 3 month old baby boy from a rough situation. My grandfather knew that very moment this boy was meant to be his son forever. So my grandfather gave the baby boy his name, calling him John Phillips. It wasn't long before the baby boy grew to be a man. That man soon found love in a woman and in 1988 she later became pregnant. The woman gave birth to a daughter. Young John Phillips was proud to become a father. It reminded him of his father who saved his life, knowing that if it hadn't been for my grandfather John, he wouldn't have had the pleasures of becoming a father himself to his new baby daughter. He named the little girl Natassja Phillips. Now it is year 2015, I'm now a woman and I think back on my life and thank my dear grandfather John for my life as well.

May he rest peacefully in the heavens above and be welcomed with open arms, into the arms of the Lord.
