“ My dear friend Joyce, will truly be missed. We attended Springfield College and during one of her performances in our choir she jumped out of her shoes, they were straight up and she kept on singing without missing a beat . 🎵 We had fun big time!

To the entire family you are in my prayers.

Joyce I will never forget how you made my soul, mind, body and spirit rejoice from your beautiful voice singing the songs of Zion. When you was not in the choir I always asked where is Joyce because I knew that you was going to sing a song to the Glory of GOD.

Over the years I've often thought of Joyce and wondered how she was doing. I had no clue that she had gained her wings until I was looking on the Hartford (CT) Public High School's facebook page, and someone had posted a memorial album of all the people who had died. Although I'm not from Hartford I went to college with a number of people for that city, so I looked at the entire list to see if any of my former classmates were on the list. Needless to say, I was shocked when I saw Joyce's name.

I met Joyce in the Summer of '71 when I was an incoming freshman at UCONN and she was in the CONNPEP program. Although we were both the same age, she was a year behind me. We kept in touch for over a year. Then, life took us both in different directions. Many, many years later I was on my way to an executive board meeting and when I walked through the lobby Joyce was sitting there waiting to see someone. We were both shocked to see each other, and later rekindled our friendship. She was a very beautiful spirit. I knew her as Joyce Hill, then Joyce Burns.....I pray that her spirit is at peace
