“ My deepest condolences to you and yours Deion and the Foreman family. Warm HUGS!

I will miss Pam deeply. I struggle to listen to Count on Me, from the Waiting to Exhale soundtrack. That sound is the definition of my relationship with Pam.

Only God knew, what HE was doing when I met Pam in middle school.

She was always talking and giggling, which got her into trouble and the teacher, who ended moving her seat next to me because I was quiet. Mind you, she was not happy that she had to move seats. She got me to talk when she asked her a piece of my Nowlater candy and she would share her sunflower seeds.

We bonded over how funny our families were and we would take turns going back and forth over what our siblings or parents did to us or would not let us do.

She always knew how to make you laugh by saying "Young" before she would tell you some gossip or had to get her point across. Her laugh is contagious. She smiled all the time.

I swear that girl was on joke time. Which lead us to hanging out at church, going to the movies, Chatting about BOYS, we went to our first concerts together, Oh we stood in an 5 hour line to get autographs from Dru Hill, we lived at the mall, stayed at Six flags, took a trip to Florida, later attending college together.

We kept good tabs on each other as we grew apart. We never missed anything of import events in our lives such as her getting married or when I had my son, she was there the day he was born, smiling.

But like real love, we found our way back to each other.

I am blessed and grateful that her and I had chat and chew. Were we reconnected before she gained her wings.

She will always be my first best friend. I might wear high heels and eat a BLT but you can count on me to drink coffee in her honor. lol

Pam was my girl.

Love Always,
