“ One of my fondest memories of my godmother was her braiding my hair and how she would take the comb from the tip of my nose and draw a line up my forehead to make the straightest center part. That method never worked for me 😂. She taught me a different way to eat grits and rice (just add sugar) and that's what she was in my life... a little bit of sugar. Sweet and kind and big on family. The more the merrier. She treated as if I were own every time. I will cherish every memory of you. Rest Peacefully 🙏
