“ Extending heartfelt condolences for your loss. Although I cannot begin to comprehend what you are going through, I do know there is no greater pain than that of a parent losing a child, and that pain is felt throughout the entire family. In times of sorrow or pain, I draw comfort knowing God has promised an end to death and the pain and sorrow associated with it. Revelation 21:4 says "And he (God) will wipe out every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more, neither will mourning, nor outcry, nor pain be anymore, the former things have passed away". The tears that God will wipe out are not tears of happiness and joy, but tears of mourning, outcry, pain and sorrow. There is also the hope of the resurrection of those who have fallen asleep in death as noted at Acts 24:15. Lean on our loving Heavenly Father at this time, he welcomes us to come to him in prayer. Psalm 65:2 calls God the "Hearer of prayer", and Psalm 145:18 says he "is near to all those calling on him". A very special Scripture I hope you find comfort in is found at Isaiah 65:20 and says "No more will there be an infant from that place who lives but a few days...." May Jehovah, the Father of tender mercies and God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our trials (2 Corinthians 1:3,4), comfort you in your time of need. (jlcompo@yahoo.com)

“ Since I found out you were soon to come, you've been such a joy! Your mother cared and loved you so much, and that love was contagious to everyone. The days leading up to your arrival were like Christmas. You were a gift to so many that you never knew. The day you were born, I cried and grinned like a proud auntie! You were finally here! Your birth was a light and joy to us all. Angel boy, you were sent to us to connect us all and teach us love we never knew. You are perfection, and will be missed. I'm sorry I never got a chance to hold your tiny hand, but know that I love you so very deeply and truly. Sweet kisses to you, sweet baby boy Sox!

“ I've been excited about you since your mother first told me that she was expecting. Watching her love grow for you was truly joyful. I'd call her everyday to see what you were doing and how that made her feel. I wanted to be there when you were born, but I was so far away. Hearing her voice and hearing your voice in the background, I could sense how perfect you were. Seeing your pictures lit up my heart. You are amazing Silas Xavier "Sox" Schools Johnson! You have left your mark on my life. xoxoxo Auntie Mama Nesha
